7 - What do you perceive as the strengths and weaknesses of this course? You may use this space to elaborate on any of your answers above.
Response Rate	5/8 (62.5%)
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The strength of this class was the skills we practiced. The weakness was the little to none because of the professor truly teaching us and helping us in every way understand. I believe that this course was VERY repetitive. The readings were very similar and eventually made it not worth the time when they were all the same thing. Originally it was interesting, but there needs to be more variety. Being able to write essays easier. Having to write a lot of essays Writing is a big weakness in this course, many of the assignments required a writing piece, which was hard to keep up with. One weakness was I felt like I was writing the same paper over and over again.

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The strength that Rod Keller has is his kind heart. I believe he genuinely cares about his students not just for their success academically but mentally and emotionally. He always asks us genuine questions like "how you are doing? or" what's new?" and more. He loves his job. I think Professor Keller is the best teacher here at The College of Idaho. I think more professors need to be like him. As a professor his teaching skills are top tier, helping us understand the material as much as possible. The weakness is little to none. Rod Keller was an amazing professor. He truly wanted everyone to succeed and gave his full effort to the class as well. He was very kind and caring, and always tried to help no matter if it was in FYS or outside of class. He was also very understanding with other circumstances which made his class and him as a teacher very refreshing. :) He was very helpful in teaching and guiding us to where we needed to go. No weaknesses Professor Keller is a good instructor, he is very timely with grading and is a good mentor as well. At times, some assignments were hard to understand even with an explanation, but he is very good with one-on-one time and is helpful in understanding assignments. Mr. Keller is an amazing professor and an even better person. I would highly recommend him and I would love to have another class with him
